“ I wasn't your Mom or your Dad, I wasn't you're uncle or your man. I was just someone who saw you for who you were. As I held your little foot in my hand and wrapped up your ankle to try to make it all better and listened to your beautiful heart, I told you you were good and kind and beautiful, I told you your past and your demons couldn't define you. I told you I would prove it to you because I, a stranger with no agenda or ulterior motive, would love you and care about you for no reason other than because your are who you are. Alyssa, I didn't know then just how true that would be. If I get to heaven someday, I hope you will be there to greet me. Demons take the lives of angels every chance they get, but they never take their souls. Until then I will miss you. 😞

“ My thoughts and prayers go out to Cory, her family, friends, and of course you can't forget about her little babies (pups) she loved dearly. Alyssa I am going to miss seeing your beautiful smile everyday, hearing your funny jokes, but most of all you. We became friends from working at Dibellas in Pittsburgh's Market Square District. Even though we only knew each other for a few years. I can honestly say I feel like I knew you forever. That's why I can't gather myself into believing this is just a dream. Alyssa you were such a sweet, kind hearted person that would do anything for anybody. I just keep saying to myself, she's up there in heaven getting her "sammiches" ready for that amazing (food truck) you wanted so bad on St.Martin's island right along the beach. Now pretty lady fly high, until we meet again...Love you girl 🥹🙏💕🙌

This is so painful to hear. I am so sorry. I can imagine what all her loved ones are going through. Nothing can ever take this kind of pain away. I will keep her and her family in my prayers. Praying that God gives them the strength to get through this. I haven't seen Alyssa in a while but I will never forget the first time I saw her and her brother staring through the empty window as we prepared for the opening of the daycare. I fell in love with her and her brother and they quickly became family to me. I enjoyed watching them grow and was thankful to be a part of their lives. Thankful to have known Alyssa. She was a special young lady. I like to think that God has something bigger for her. Sending my love and prayers to you Alyssa. XO
